"I've often read about the number of times people entering the work force over the next few years are expected to change their place of employment during their career. I have had the opportunity to change my career path a multiple of times without leaving WIS! I graduated from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario Canada with a Bachelor of Commerce Degree majoring in accounting. Not long after graduating I joined this great company as an Entry Level inventory Manager. Less than 2 years into my tenure I moved on to the Area Manager Position, then on to a Director of Operations position. From operations I moved on to Ontario Accounts, then into Information Technology and finally into my current position as VP of Canadian Operations. If you have an interest and proven talent, we will find a way to work with you to develop that talent!"

As part of operations you have the opportunity to essentially run your own business. I truly enjoyed bringing new people into the organization and assisting them as they moved on and upward in our company. We are not for everyone, we have early mornings and some weekends in our work schedule, but if you like responsibility and are interested in being challenged we have interesting opportunities for you.

We have aggressive growth plans and inherent in those plans are opportunities for those with the desire to develop leadership skills in business to join our company and grow with us! Apply with us and find out more!"

-Steve Roberts

Vice President of Canadian Operations

"In 2002, I started at WIS as an Inventory Manager in Gastonia, NC after completing my schooling at Michigan State University. I was looking for a management position that would allow me to grow with a company and put all of the skills I had learned over the years into practice. This turned out to be an even more exciting and rewarding career than I had ever imagined. During the last five years I have had the opportunity and distinct pleasure of working with the best in the business as well as the most advanced technology in the industry. I went from an Inventory Manager to an Area Manager after only 11 months, then after 12 months I was promoted to a District Manager. I have seen the company grow so much and it is still very exciting to know that so many opportunities for growth are still out there. If your idea of a great career is going to an office Monday thru Friday and working 9am-5pm, and then hanging it up when you go home, well keep looking. Now if you want a career that merges with your life, has unlimited challenges and rewards, that utilizes your hard work and no-quit attitude, all while working in a competitive team atmosphere, then you may just be the right person for this job!"

-Daniel Kelly

Director of Operations Southeast

"After I graduated from Cal State University Fullerton, I was offered a full time Inventory Manager position with WIS. I was attracted to the opportunity because of the entrepreneurial spirit that existed in the company. It was challenging and fun to get to wear the many hats of operations, sales, customer service and human resource manager at such a young age. After I was promoted to Region Manager for a portion of LA and Hawaii, we ended up growing the Hawaii office into the largest and most profitable in the company! We truly controlled our own destiny. My next career step was to National Training Manager, then Division VP for the Southern Division. More exciting chapters to come..."

-Dan Nelson

Vice President, Southern Division

"I started at WIS as an Inventory Manager in Flint, Michigan in November of 1999. After only 11 months, I was promoted to an Area Manager in Gastonia, North Carolina. 18 months later I was promoted again, this time to a District Manager position. After another 18 months I was offered a Regional VP of the Southeast Region. I am now the Southeast Division Vice President."

-Gary Foy

Vice President, Southeastern Division
